The Authorities Budget Office Issues Statement on Governor's FY2026 State of the State

"I thank Governor Hochul for supporting the Authorities Budget Office and its work to promote accountability, transparency and integrity for public authorities across New York," said Joshua Norkin, Director of the Authorities Budget Office. "Building a new, modern data and reporting system will provide much needed relief to public authorities reporting their financials and operating activities in an antiquated system, and better economic development information to New Yorkers on everything from tax incentives to the success of individual projects."
